Benjamin Henry created Madneom in 2001. Self made man earning its stripes from the underground trend, he embraces artistic profesional circles with the design of out of ordinary pieces ( funitures, sceneries and sculptures ) and focuses its researches into events with the aim to design installations mixing art and functionality.

Floria Lunet, with the same non-standard professional experience, brings its artictic and technical expertise to enrich the project

( graphics, infographics, painting, sculpture )

Both involved in voluntary activities within the movement of «cultural brownfield and art new territories », their history combine individual and collective experiences with positive and alternative movement towards institutions.
